

Register and Pay online for Omaha OD Network Events

We are encouraging everyone to register and pay for events online via our website at www.omahaodn.org.

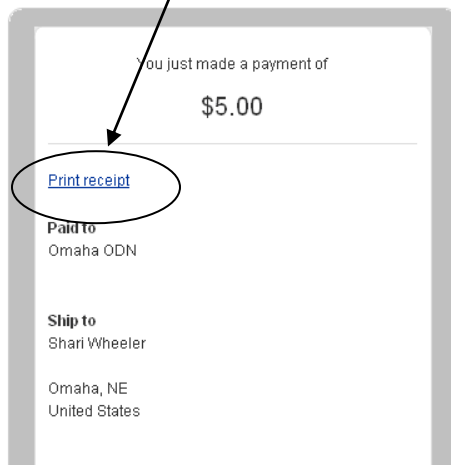

This online registration process allows us to have an accurate count for events. This will help us to plan accordingly to make sure the room is set up properly and that we order the appropriate amount of food/drink for the event.

With the introduction of our new website in 2010, we realize that there has been some confusion in knowing whether your registration and payment was processed successfully. To clear up some of the confusion, we are providing samples of the notifications you should receive if your registration and payment are accepted.

If you do not receive the payment notification, it is likely that there was a problem with the PayPal payment processing. In that scenario, we recommend that you cancel the registration and try again.

The first notification you will receive is this screen. You have an option to print a receipt from this page:

The January program invites Mary Perfrontaine, the Executive Director of ICAN to share the leadership mentoring circles program.

Leadership Mentoring Circles
"People with strong and good mentors enjoy more promotions, higher pay, and greater career satisfaction. They feel a sense of belonging, which makes their lives meaningful."
McKinsey Quarterly, Fall 2008

ICAN: Institute for Career Advancement Needs is pleased to offer: Leadership Mentoring Circles for the Organization Development Network. Experience for yourself the power of mentoring circles at the January 26th session.

Mary Prefontaine will share her program:
Many graduates from our leadership programs ask, "What's next for me? Where can I go to make community connections like I've made through my ICAN experience? How can I continue to evolve myself?"

Our response to the research indicating leaders need mentoring, and our graduates' requests, is Leadership Mentoring Circles. Our program design uses Margaret Wheatley's model of shared inquiry and dialogue, and supports the idea that "a leader is anyone willing to help." Unlike traditional corporate mentoring programs, ICAN's program is based on peer-to-peer conversations. We believe every leader needs the opportunity to be supported as a mentee, while also possessing the wisdom to serve as a mentor.

While many corporations have in-house mentoring programs, ICAN's program takes a new and different approach. At ICAN, we have redefined and reframed mentoring to mean co-creative relationships centered on our capacity to lead through our ability to connect with one another. The outcome becomes a relationship based on trust and goodwill that can result in clarity and courage for all.

"There is no power greater than a community discovering what it cares about."
- Margaret Wheatley

Additional information: Mary Prefontaine is the Executive Director of the Institute for Career Advancement Needs, Inc. (ICAN) – a leadership development organization helping companies nationwide to develop their next generation of leaders. Ms. Prefontaine has over 20 years of experience in senior executive positions in marketing and business development in both non-profit and for-profit organizations.
